Paper Plate Crafts ~ How to Make a Paper Plate Sheep

Paper Plate Sheep Supplies:

- A Paper Plate
- White Shredded paper
- Googly Eyes
- Black paper for legs, face and ears
- White School Glue

Be warned, it is a little messy. Like glitter, you will probably end up with shredded paper everywhere. However, it is super easy to clean up and a great way to recycle your paper scraps. Not to mention, the kids LOVE it.

Encourage your kids to squish glue all over the paper plate. Cover your work surface, this is one of those projects where the more glue the better.

Once their plate is all “gluey”, have the kids press handfuls of shredded paper onto their plates. This part may get a little messy, but the paper sweeps up really easy.

repeat the layers of glue and shredded paper until the paper plate is looking woolly.

More glue for the face ears and legs. Just use black construction paper to cut out a large oval for the face and two smaller and narrower ovals for the ears. Hopefully you can find some googly eyes or just make them out of white paper and marker. You can also cut out four strips of black paper for the legs. Glue them on to the bottom of the paper plate.

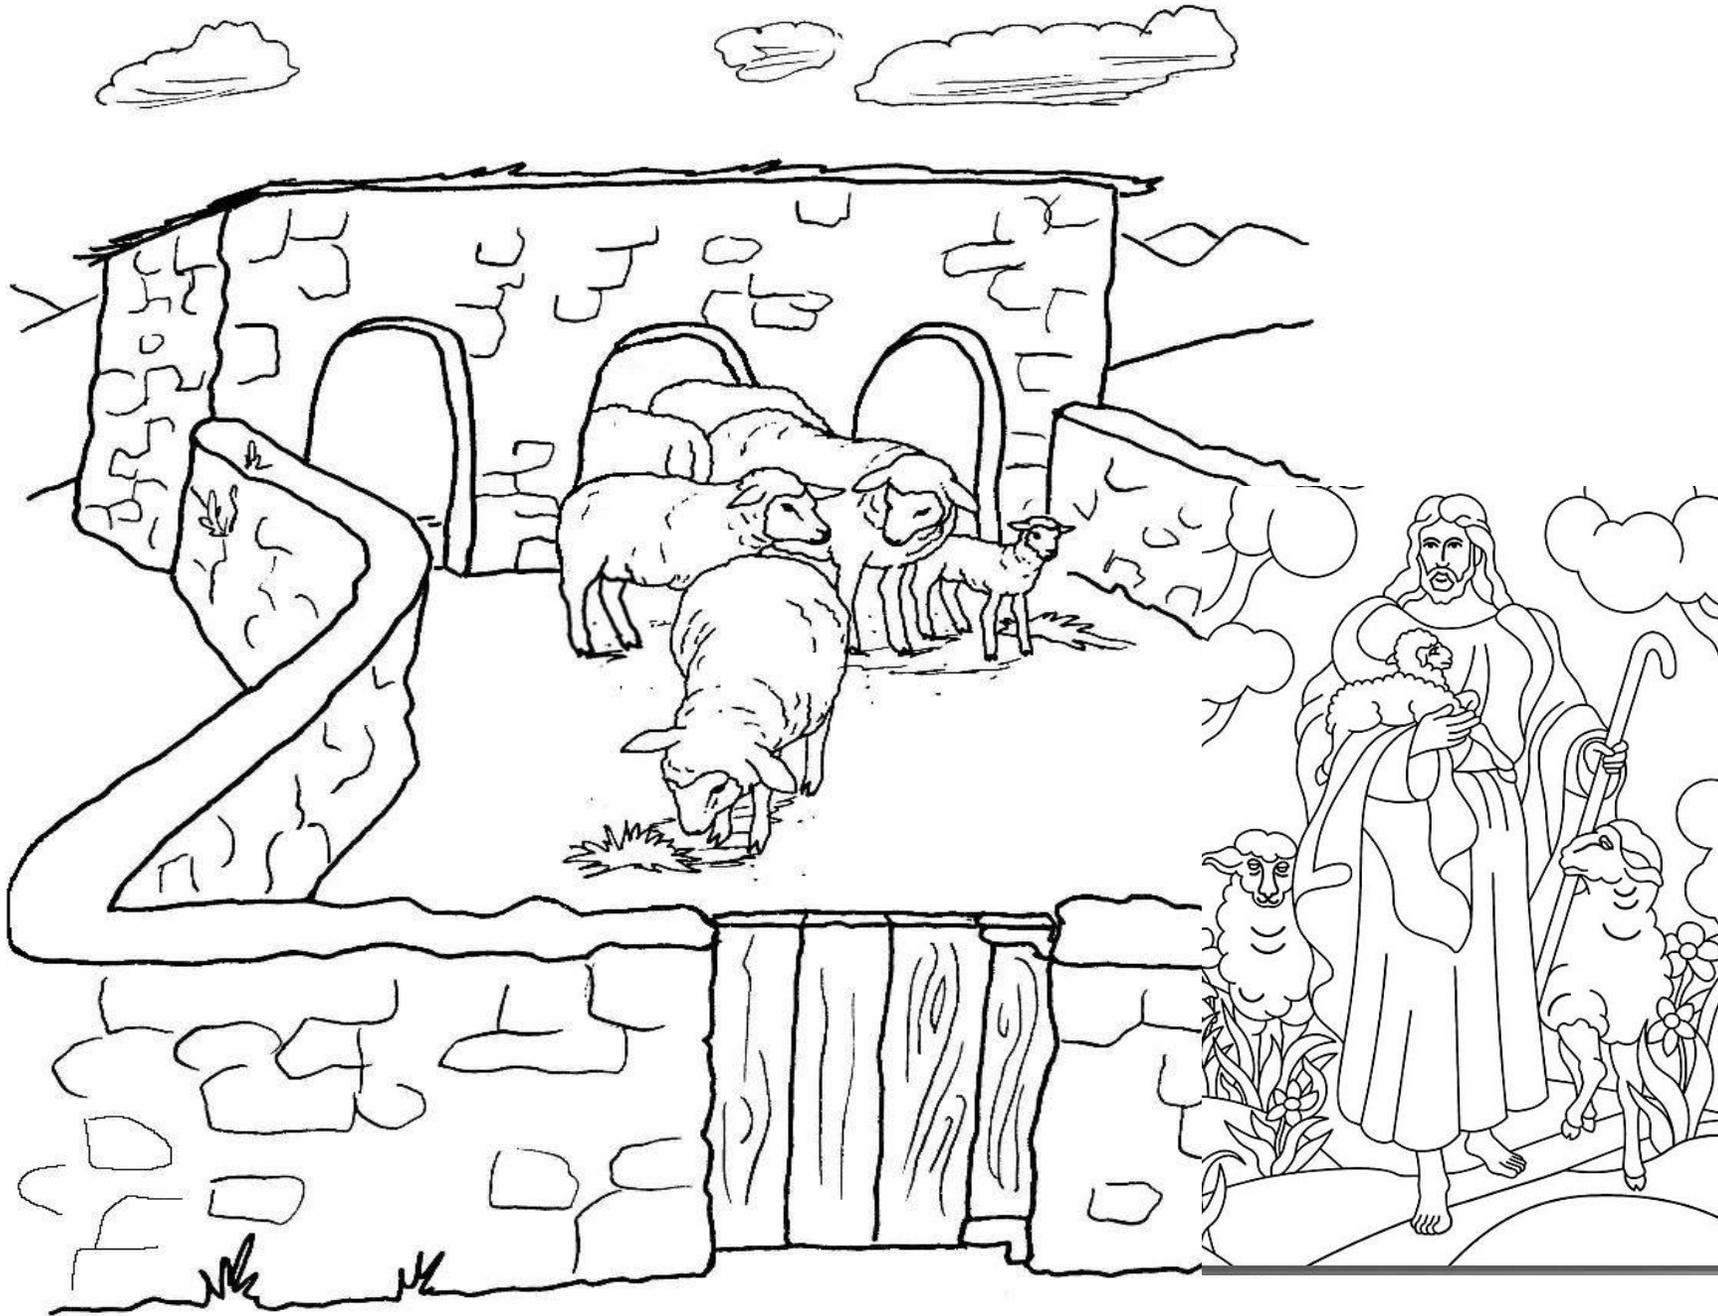

The texture of the shredded paper is perfect for these little sheep. Cotton balls would be a more traditional approach, but I love how the shredded paper looks. I am sure we will be using shredded paper again soon!

Check out these little lambs. Just as unique as we are.

Who are the sheep?

Who is both the gatekeeper and the shepherd?

Who should we follow?

"I AM" THE GATE

Spot 8 differences between the two pictures.

"I am the gate. Whoever enters by me will be saved , and will come in and go out and find pasture."

"I came that they may have life and have it abundantly"

This is a tough one – look at the sky, the grass, the rocks in and around the sheep paddock.
